PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Winner of Emmy for Sound Design for "When Dinosaurs Roamed America"; narrated by John Goodman. Visionary, trend-defining editor/producer offers years of experience collaborating cross-functionally to produce quality, engaging multimedia materials for high-profile feature films & fashion clients and such as "When Dinosaurs Roamed America" 2000, "Bubble Boy" 2001, "Van Wilder" 2002, "The Lost Coast" 2024, Romp London, Frederick's of Hollywood and others. Produced multiple television pilots including the winner of the New York Television Festival "On the Block", "Flash!", "Morse Code". After winning an Emmy for sound design, (and after supervising audio-post on some 200 prime time network TV episodes and 25 feature films) Wareham set out for new challenges and picked up the DVX-100 to produce a series of films dealing with prison reform he shot in Washington D.C., inside NY's Rikers Island, in Los Angeles and in New Zealand where he explored incarceration trends from within the indigenous Maori Black Power and Darksider gangs. In 2006 he won The New York Television Festival for Best Unscripted Television Show, ON THE BLOCK, featuring former Miss America Leanza Cornett, and in 2007, traveled to Rio de Janeiro to produce the fashion docu-drama pilot FLASH!. He acted in the role of sound supervisor for Bigfoot entertainment in Cebu for 4 features in 2008, including the cult hit, "Midnight Movie", using his crew both on location and remotely. All 4 films were mixed in 5.1 on the ICON.
